

Refining your search

To limit your search by publication type, year published, or language, check the appropriate options under “Limit your results”.

The screenshot shows the search interface for the Atla Religion Database. The 'Limit your results' section is highlighted with a red box. It includes filters for Full Text, Abstract Available, Open Access, and Scholarly (Peer Reviewed) Journals. The 'Year Published' filter is set to 'All Years'. The 'Publication Type' filter is set to 'All'. The 'Language' filter is set to 'All'. The 'Genre' filter is set to 'All'. The 'Image Quick View' filter is set to 'All'. The 'Image Quick View Types' filter is set to 'All'. The 'Image Quick View Types' filter is set to 'All'.

Expanding your search

Use an asterisk (*) at the end of a search term to find various forms of that term:

Typing: missio will return results with the words: mission, missions, missionary, missiology, etc.

Use a question mark (?) within a search term to catch alternate spellings, pluralization, etc.:

Typing: savio?r will return results with both savior and saviour.

Using OR between synonymous search terms will help you find more articles on the topic:

(e.g.) teenager OR youth OR adolescent

Combining terms to focus the search

Use AND between search terms to find articles on a more specific topic. For example, Buddhism AND reincarnation finds articles that contain both terms.

You can also combine terms from previous searches:

1. From the Search History/Alerts box, just below the three search boxes, place a checkmark next to the searches that you would like to combine.

The screenshot shows the search interface for the Atla Religion Database. The 'Search History/Alerts' section is highlighted with a red box. It shows a table of search history with columns for Search, Search Terms, Search Options, and Actions. The search terms are 'reincarnation', 'buddhism', and 'buddhism AND reincarnation'. The search options are 'Search modes - Boolean/Phrase'. The actions are 'View Results', 'View Details', and 'Edit'.

Search History/Alerts

The screenshot shows the Search History/Alerts table. The 'Select' column is highlighted with a red box. The table has columns for Search, Search Terms, Search Options, and Actions. The search terms are 'reincarnation', 'buddhism', and 'buddhism AND reincarnation'. The search options are 'Search modes - Boolean/Phrase'. The actions are 'View Results', 'View Details', and 'Edit'.

2. Click on either Search with AND or Search with OR.

- To export the citations, click on the export icon .

You are then given options for formatting the citations.

Atla Religion Database with AtlaSerials

TORONTO SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY LIBRARIES

Introduction

The ATLA Religion Database with ATLASerials provides citations to articles, essays, books and book reviews related to religion and theology. It covers all major world religions, and many of the journal article citations include a link to the full-text article.

Getting connected

U of T faculty and students can access the ATLA Religion Database with ATLASerials by following these steps:

1. Go to the U of T Libraries' homepage:
<https://onesearch.library.utoronto.ca>
2. Under Databases, click "By subject A-Z"
3. Choose Christianity or Religion or Islamic Studies from the list of topics. Click on Go.
4. Click on ATLA Religion Database with ATLASerials from the list of resources.

If you are not on campus, you will be asked for your UTORid and password.

Getting help

If you need further help using this database (such as how to do advanced searches), click  next to the search boxes, or ask a reference librarian.

If you need help making sense of the EBSCO interface (the arrangement on the screen), click  in the upper right corner, or ask a librarian.

You can also get help by clicking on the CONTACT THE LIBRARY link in the upper right corner.

Doing a Search

1. Enter search terms in any of the three "Search" boxes.
2. Click .
3. The results are displayed in the lower part of the search screen. An individual record looks like this:

Finding the full-text of a journal article

When the full-text of an article is available from ATLA, click on  PDF Full Text. Even if this link doesn't appear, the article may still be available in full-text. Click  to see if its available full-text. If the full-text is not online, look up the title of the journal or book (not the title of the article) in the Library catalogue. If the print journal is not available at U of T, the article can be obtained through inter-library loan.

Clicking on the article title will provide further information, but not the full-text. For related articles, click one or more of the terms listed under "Subjects".

Searching for works by an author

1. Click on "More" at the top of the screen, and then on "Indexes." Choose the "Author" index from the drop down "Browse an Index" box.
2. Enter the author's name in the "Browse for" box below. Write the surname followed by the first initial (e.g. Daly, M). Click .
3. Check the box(es) next to the author's name you want. Click  at the top of the page.

Finding book reviews

1. In the "Search Options" box, in the "Limit your results" section, in the "Publication Type" menu, select "Review."
2. Enter the title of the book in the "Search" box at the top of the screen.
3. Click .

Searching for works on a biblical verse

1. Click  at the top of the screen. This will open a list of the books in the Bible in canonical order.
2. Find the book of the Bible you want. To select a particular chapter, click on  next to the appropriate book. To select a particular verse in a chapter, click on  next to the appropriate chapter. Click on the verse you want.
3. The search results will show articles and other resources about that particular Biblical verse.

Searching ATLA Religion Database and other indexes simultaneously

Other indexes use the same interface as the ATLA Religion Database. These include Old Testament Abstracts and New Testament Abstracts.

To search multiple databases at the same time, click the  link above the search boxes. Place a checkmark next to the appropriate databases and click .
